

Repeated planning, execution, review, rollback, and session continuation connect each research question to a measured result.

